A California Classic

The new 6,000-square-foot showroom in San Francisco displays Michael Taylor Designs' signature collections as well as the company's newest representation, Wicker Wicker Wicker, created by Ivy Rosequist in collaboration with Michael Taylor in 1977. The new line features Rosequist's party furniture, a folding table and chair (below right), and the more substantial ivy-back chair (below left). Over the last 45 years the sophistication, simplicity and elegance of Taylor's designs has defined the California Look.

The simplicity of the large-scale furniture is a hallmark of Michael Taylor's.

Treasured Maps

Quadrus Studio, represented by Thomas Lavin in his Los Angeles showroom, presents a striking selection of maps framed in individual plates. The 1739 Turgot map of Paris (left) is hand-antiqued and framed in 22-karat gold leaf under glass in four sections. Admired by Mark Boone, a 1746 map of London by John Rocque is also available, in 24 graphic plates.
