

○ Anglophile'd

Giving traditional glamour an updated twist has made Brentwood-based Grace Home Furnishings one of the most successful design studios in the city. Owners Roger Stoker and Michael Ostrow have made it their mission to reinterpret old-school décor for very modern-day clients such as Heidi Klum. And their latest, the Avery Buffet ($6,890), with its mirrored doors and lace-like brass corner details, takes high-functioning storage into glimmering, shimmering territory. Best of all? Clients don't need to trek to the Westside to get in on the action. Ostrow and Stoker have recently opened an online shop (gracehomeshop.com) where pieces from the Grace Home Collection, along with items made by some of their fave designers, are available. 11632 Barrington Court, L.A., 310.476.7176, gracehomefurnishings.com

IGNER WISDOM

... lot of my clients are going back to traditional aesthetic. It's different now; less about Windsor chairs and more about comfort and function for real people."

OLIVER M. FURTH

THE FINDS

Flavor Paper's City Park wallpaper, designed by Dan Funderburgh

A chair covered in Peter Dunham's recently created Gattopardo fabric

Tuell + Reynolds' Mariposa stool

○ Repatterned

Replays on classic patterns are injecting new energy into home décor. Peter Dunham's Gattopardo is part of his new textile collection that's inspired by vintage tribal-style fabrics from sub-Saharan Africa. At Hollywood at Home, 724 N. La Cienega Blvd., L.A., 310.273.6200, hollywoodathome.com >>> It may look like an everyday damask, but sneak a closer peek and you'll see that those are fire hydrants and parking meters in Flavor Paper's whimsical designs. At Walnut Wallpaper, 7424 Beverly Blvd., L.A., 323.932.9166, walnutwallpaper.com >>> Tuell + Reynolds' handcrafted Mariposa stool puts hide in a totally new light with Kyle Bunting's modernized stripes. At Thomas Lavin PDC, 8687 Melrose Ave., L.A., 310.278.2456, thomaslavin.com