A SUMMER SELECTION

From the Richard Frinier collection for Brown Jordan, Elements was created to bring thought to what can be achieved using the various elements of good design and stylish forms. Uniquely shaped and artfully crafted pieces combine a new handwoven-and-mohair-textured Resinweave® with powder-coated aluminum frames, setting the stage for functional and flexible exterior and interior spaces. The collection features versatile sectional, lounge, and dining pieces, which can be arranged and rearranged in limitless configurations.

ILLUMINATING DESIGNS

Michael McEwen came on the lighting scene in the 1990s, creating highly specialized fixtures from found objects. McEwen Lighting Studio's custom-made pieces and ready-made editions possess the high-quality aesthetic the designer has come to be known for: utility and beauty through the layering of glass. McEwen's newest fixture, the Vellum—available at Thomas Lavin—displays these same qualities, as seen in the Bay Area house designed by Walker Warner Architects shown above.

DAZZLING DESIGNS

Jill Platner's designs are executed in weighty, sensuous silver, sometimes worked on leather, and often strung on crocheted Tenara®, a superdurable thread that can withstand exposure to the elements. She also works in 19K-green gold, a special alloy that is unique to her designs. All work is made by hand in New York City.

A MEMORABLE EVENT

President of Vacheron Constantin North America Hugues de Pins and chief executive officer of Tourneau Jim Seuss hosted a private event for Atlanta watch collectors on Wednesday, March 28. Special guests enjoyed a cocktail reception at a St. Regis Atlanta private residence designed by AD100 honoree Suzanne Kasler, where they previewed Vacheron's newest watch collection alongside its current collection counterparts. Following cocktails, guests moved to the St. Regis Wine Room for an intimate dinner.
