Eclectic Company

all began with a love for disco and motorbikes. n came a phase of experimentation with metal. Now Tom Dixon, the U.K.-based design and manufacturing company of lighting and furniture, launched Eclectic, a sister collection consisting of everyday home accessories, giftware and design objects, all informed by British heritage. Each piece, composed of everything from hammered copper and hand-carved Morwad marble to durable cast iron milled solid oak, is tough enough to stand up to rough and tumble. The line is so luxe-looking, however, that behind the shiny glass door of a display case seems the most fitting place to keep it. Garde, 7418 Beverly Blvd., L.A., 323.424.4667, gardeshop.com —Natalie Polvere
